OTHER THINGS TO CONSIDER WHEN SHOOTING	Shooting angles: It's recommended to shoot your subject at an angle or a level that people are familiar with but feel free to provide more dynamic angles to your shoot where you find necessary. Seeing the subject from a different perspective makes the image more unique and this can increase demand. Models: In the event you are shooting talent or recognizable property always have release forms available. And for this content to be of commercial use it is a MUST to have consent from the models or the property owners. Depth of field (Shallow/ Deep): As you compose your images/videos consider having a variety of content with both shallow and deep depths of field. Props: Use props where necessary to compliment your subject. Composition: Your content needs to tell a story in one way or the other. And for this content to make commercial sense, the users are looking for content that will tell their story in the best possible way. Capture those moments that are natural, spontaneous and engaging. Let the subject be as expressive as possible but make it look natural e.g. Let them express happiness, surprise etc. in a very natural way. In some of your compositions, keep your subject either left or right side (Rule of thirds) to have space the user can use to accommodate text. Also, the background shouldn't be busy to distract the focus from the subject. This is where a shallow depth of field comes to use. Location: As Sura Images, we don't dictate much on shooting location, it's your discretion as a photographer to choose the location that will compliment the story of your subject. The location should be as natural and authentic as possible e.g. if the subject is Mama Mboga let her be in her natural environment (Kibanda/ Kiosk/ Grocery store).
CONTENT USAGE	The distribution of content will be through the Sura Images website and the intended end user will use the content in different media platform e.g. Posters, Billboard, Magazine, Digital etc. Having this in mind, we recommend photographer to submit the content in high quality.
